

HOPE for
CREATION

Communities of faith partnering for a sustainable future.

Tuesday, April 10th
7:30-8:30pm

River Falls United Methodist Church
127 S. Second St., River Falls, WI

Free childcare provided
Free Admission
Refreshments to follow

Presented by:

HOPE for CREATION Partners:

Ezekiel Lutheran Church
First Congregational United Church of Christ
River Falls United Methodist Church
Saint Bridget's Catholic Church
Servant of the Shepherd

“The situation isn't hopeless,
and we are not helpless.”

with meteorologist Paul Douglas

“Climate change seems to be making the news with greater frequency these days. Why are scientists concerned, and why should I even care about what the climate is doing? As people of faith we have an obligation to pay attention, and be good stewards of the earth, of God's Creation. I will trace my evolution from climate skeptic to acknowledging the trends, explain how climate volatility and weather disruption is already showing up in Minnesota, and talk about the implications for our children, and generations to come.” -Paul Douglas

Paul Douglas is a devout Christian and nationally respected meteorologist based in the Twin Cities. He is currently a writer for the Star Tribune and radio host on WCCO.